NEWLY RE-LAUNCHED NIGERIA MARKET GETS FIRST-EVER PEARL

Following an absence of about five years, New Age's Nigerian market only relaunched last month as part of the New Age/Morinda Expansion Program, but it already has its very first Pearl!

That honor goes to Bukola Esther Folami, a very hardworking individual who is very excited about New Age and believes strongly in the benefits of Tahitian Noni Juice.

"Wow, I am so excited about Morinda coming back to Nigeria to stay," Bukola said. "Wonderful products that keep my family looking young with great health benefits have landed again. Morinda gives a lot of financial freedom, from zero to hero, and is the first ever company that pays our commission in dollars. We are very ready to move the business forward again."

Jason Sheen, Senior Director of Global Expansion, had this to say about Bukola: "Bukola rallied her group in September to break the title of Pearl. I am so excited to see Bukola and other Nigerian leaders working with their teams in order to achieve new titles and unlock travel rewards and additional levels of commissions. They have fully embraced the concept of 'Live Healthy' by sharing Tahitian Noni Juice with the citizens of Nigeria."

Congratulations Bukola on this amazing accomplishment! The future of the Nigeria market is bright indeed.

IPCS RAVE ABOUT NEWAGE UNIVERSITY AT THE FAMOUS SUNDANCE RESORT

Utah's Sundance Resort is known for its hiking trails, skiing and snowboarding slopes, and the annual Sundance Film Festival. But this lovely mountain getaway was just the host for North America's New Age University, where IPCs got learn from company leaders about how to build their business.

And judging by the IPC reactions below, it was a fantastic event.

Jon Hallstrom, Regional Manager for North America, takes the stage at NewAge University.

"I enjoyed New Age University enormously! It gave me the feeling that I was not alone. I have already taken many steps that I wouldn't have dared to before. I have three new customers and a team meeting set up for Wednesday!"

-Brigitte van Dongen (Netherlands)

"This week we are talking all about financial freedom and receiving more training on how to build our organizations and become financially freed. For me, I'm a millennial, and I realized the 9-to-5 isn't going to work for me, it's not going to help me reach my goals or build the lifestyle I want. So, I am so excited to learn how to build better and put a community in place to get where I want to be, and in turn, help my community get to where they want to be. I am so happy to be here!"

-Ayiana Lucas (Delaware)

"One of the greatest things I've learned this week in working my New Age business is that if I'm consistent – I do something every day and I stick with it – I get FIVE checks a month! That has been an awesome gift for me on my journey to financial freedom."

-Leah Davis (Tennessee)

"I'm so happy and privileged to be at New Age University! I love having the opportunity to learn from the best at corporate. The information that they fuel us with is really for us to be successful. I just have to use the information and use the resources, because everything is here. The big 'ah-ha' moment for me is that if I just translate this information into activity, I can have everything I want."

-Sharon Michelle Garrison (Delaware)

"Our company is amazing in so many ways, we are just lightyears ahead. We just had an all-expense-paid training on how to become financially free. Most companies say they offer it, but very few teach you how to capitalize on their plan to create your financial freedom. What feels so good to me is that my financial freedom is achieved by helping people get healthy! That's a win-win situation! I would do that if I did not make a dollar. But the idea that I can create financial freedom, help people, and get equity? That's a win-win-win situation!"

-Valencia Pamphile (Delaware)

TAIWAN EVENTS LEADING TO A SUCCESSFUL OCTOBER

October has been a busy month for NewAge Taiwan. Earlier in the month, a number of IPCs made the trip to Japan for Morinda University Asia, and since then, Taiwan has held a couple big events of its own.

The first of these was a leadership meeting featuring a special guest in Chief Commercial Officer Kelly Olsen. He taught leaders the importance of constantly building new Jades, and how to expand business organization. Many Jade leaders were said to be inspired by his presentation, and learned new business skills.

The next Taiwan event was a Tahitian Noni Juice health seminar. A total of 242 attendees learned about noni juice from Dr. Chen Su, and the event helped attract some new customers.

And, evidently these events have been making an impact; as of last week, Taiwan's October sales were already 109 percent ahead of projections!
